XMind is an open source project to develop an integrated project management, team collaboration, and content management tool. Installation: Step 1: Download and unzip the package. Step 2: If you are on Windows, double click the XMind.exe to run it Step 3: Now, it's time to add the xmind.log and xmind.diz files to your plugins folder. Step 4: The log file will be used by the application to tell you when the application loads successfully, and the diz file is used to specify the default location for XMind's settings. Simply copy and paste the xmind.diz file into the plugins folder. Note: On UNIX-like platforms, you can use `cp xmind.diz ~/.xmind/plugins/xmind.diz`, then open up the file, and use the edit tool to add the 'xmind.plugin.log' file to the end of the list. XMind 0.9.5 works with the database format version 2.0. The license allows you to modify the code freely and redistribute it to other clients, as long as you change the version number to '0.9.5'. Choose anything you want from the list to set up your preferences. Be sure to click on Apply when you're done. Note: Don't forget to modify the data directory location you set in the XMind Settings file. XMind 0.9.3 works with the database format version 1.0. The license allows you to modify the code freely and redistribute it to other clients, as long as you change the version number to '0.9.3'.
