NppAutoIndent With Key Free

This plugin is the solution which can be used to automatically indent the code of a text. When you activate this plugin, a secondary mode is enabled. It allows you to configure the number of lines (pixels) to make the code automatically indented. NppAutoIndent also supports triplets and quadruplets indent. You can also change the colour of the active character to a random colour instead of resetting the colour to its default one. You can also choose to change your cursor position each time you insert an indent. Double-click on the NppAutoIndent menu to display all available configuration options. In addition, you can change the amount of tabs before a new paragraph is allowed to automatically start the next line. By default, each time you press Enter, NppAutoIndent leaves the cursor in the current line's indentation and puts it back to the first line. You can also change this behaviour into "press Enter on a new line." It also supports single-click and double-click actions.
