Sign Up for Literary Manuscripts e-newsletter. Traveling a "back-road" in time and space, following a car journey across China's great north, from Lake Baikal to the Mongolian border. A look into the first-hand memories of a young Vietnam veteran. A journey through the vastness of the American West as told through the writings and paintings of Mark Twain. California's Monterey Bay. The history of espresso-making. Teaching a dog to read. Since the Oscar nominations came out, the field of nonfiction has exploded with books about the upcoming Academy Awards. Here are 25 You Shouldn't Miss. Ok, I know that the title is misleading. I'm not talking about the way that the movies are going to break down into categories. I'm talking about the idea that this year's nominees are kind of the best of the best, with a bunch of films that should be on everyone's list of must-see movies this year. I've prepared a master list of them all, one that will hopefully guide you through all this year's high-quality movies, without taking yourself crazy! So, let's get started. I wanted this to be a quick list, since I'm sure you're busy, so I'm only going to go over ten nominees. But I will try to be thorough. Following the success of the Sinner, Cole has continued to write screenplays, including Pale Blue Moon and Twice Born. Cole, along with the lead actress, Rachel McAdams, are expected to be nominated for this year's Oscar
