This is an example of an error log sent for web, SQL DB, and Mail error cases: Web Errors When reporting web errors in the error reporting template, selecting a "Web" action from the list provides a JSON formatted web error back to the reporting system. The response will include links to map and description. If the error is considered an issue with 3rd party tools, it will be communicated to their support channel. SQL DB Errors When reporting SQL DB errors using the "SQL DB" action in the error reporting template, the response will include the table that the error occurs on with the error info and a link to view all the errors in the table. Mail Errors When reporting mail error in the error reporting template, the response will include the account that the error occurred on and a link to view all other errors in the account. Notes If the error is a temporary error, the user will be notified
