Rooftop Cop is a video game designed to provoke you. It's a thought-provoking, awe-inspiring, meditative game. It will break you and make you think. Rooftop Cop is a game about authority and how it is wielded. It's about power and control. It explores questions such as... - What does being 'in charge' actually mean? - How much trust should we place in our parents, teachers, police, or friends? - Is there a point where authority becomes too much, too much control over our lives, our bodies? In fact, there's one big question the entire game is questioning... - Are you the boss, or are you controlled by authority? - Are you in control of your life, or does authority? Watch the trailer and read the development log at:

www.rooftopcopgame.com About This Game In the heart of Los Angeles, the city's skyline is also its smog. A clearing in the smog reveals a huge open field. Suddenly a whole swarm of helicopters appear. A life-sized patrolman rides into the field on top of a throne riding on a helicopter. The patrolman is called Rooftop Cop. He has been searching for criminals in the smog for the past three years. The patrolman is about to enter the smog with his helicopter, mounted policemen and police forces. And he will stop anybody who tries to get away from him. Nobody will know what happens to the officer and his policeman at the end of the game. But maybe you will have guessed the end, and you have all the possibilities to continue the game in a different way: play as the fleeing people. What will you do? Gameplay The game starts with a 4-5 minute animated sequence where you can explore the different patrols. The game is played by shooting the pursuing patrolman. The patrol has a life bar that slowly drains with every shot. The patrolman's life bar can be replenished by reviving him. After that, every round of the game will begin with a body and a patrolman that are left behind as two groups. Depending on the type of the police the pursuing patrolman is of, certain weapons are required. You will have to enter a menu which informs you about the type of police and the in-game map. The combination of the police is what makes the game c9d1549cdd

What's new in Inflatality:

Halloween Costumes Published October 25, 2015 by Adam Sandler He looks just like you, only bigger! Paul Rudd as "Paul Rudd" is SO BIG it's hard to even recognize him! Let's see what is everyone else dressed up as this Halloween... Mookie the Terrorist Maybe Mookie's new lease on life has been limited to alien-invasion storylines, but we need more! Even though nobody wants to be speaking with a terrorist accent throughout their entire life, we think he makes the cut... Owen Wilson as Buck On the set of Last Resort, it's actually totally possible that we have used this Buck look on actual actors - and even, gasp, THE FUCKING MAN HIMSELF! This picture could have been taken in nearly any February of any year. Crawford the Dictator Friended for the Highlight Reel, it has to be said that you need to know exactly what is going on in the middle of this costume to get the full impact - but surely some people knew what was going on? Either way, Dave tries to make you believe it's some kind of a king? Glenn Close... We are not sure why Glenn Close is wearing a belt. Think about it! Bobby De Niro as Betty Boop Do you see what we mean? Nathan Fielder's eyebrows. Mac as AJ in 1999 Before Mac was, oh, Mac and Joey, he was a mutual tormenting exchange between Josh and Donald, learning the truth about Venmo in the episode "The One With the Blackout".- all this is true, but the Mac costume is not an approximation, it's a throwback to the 1999 direct-to-DVD movie that saw an up and coming Donald Glover and a pre-Justin Timberlake Mac falling madly for one another. Horton Hears a Who as... Horton, if you want to go out in style, this is a form that can carry you through high school and college and the years to come - as long as you don't do anything dangerous or need to travel more than 30 miles in any one direction (or less - makes no difference),

In 1876 the French Revolutionaries demanded too much of people who had seen their brothers, fathers and sisters crushed by the King's rule and his soldiers. The revolution was crushed by the invading forces and the suffering was extended. The people of France, who had fought in the revolution, were suffering from hunger and fear of attacks. The Prussians took over the controls of the new government. The despotism and oppression were hard to stand, but the people supported the rule of the empire. However, the Prussians did not hesitate to make cruel decisions, as they were forbidden to negotiate with any other government. This is where the French Socialists decided to fight for their rights and their souls. While France was suffering a hunger strike and social revolution, the leaders of the Socialists were given a chance for reformation. They proclaimed a new rule of the country, reestablished the freedom of speech and gave the French people a chance of rebuilding their lives. This is the war France endured, and it ended with the end of the monarchy. Golem Licensed to Rock'n'Roll, 2053. Been a while since I've worked on a game. This one's especially important to me as a development method sort of thing. I started the game as a hobby project, and I ended it as a full-time job with a lot of content.
