In a different style than the already "classic" Bouncing Balls series, where you "bounce" the balls on your screen, this one is set up more like a platformer with the player controlling the bouncing ball. This pack was modeled after themes that we have developed in our previous free updates for the game. During our beta testing we have found many new ways to improve the game. In Heavy Cargo Pack we will be introducing a new free-roaming cargo transport mode where the player can collect cargo across the map in order to customize their own city. We will also be implementing state-of-the-art features that were developed for our upcoming Paid DLC such as a massive cargo plane that will let the player deliver cargo using the skies. The database has been completely reworked for this purpose. New vehicles include buses, trucks and even airplanes! This will also include new functions and tools like cargo planing. As you can see in the video, we have implemented freeways where you can have anything in a parking spot for a fraction of its normal cost.
