Disposable Heroes is an award winning tribute to videogames, specifically action-role playing games, and their ability to seamlessly blend story, gameplay, and characters into an experience that is unlike any other. Deep, highly textured, and involving characters, Disposable Heroes is a timeless and unique experience.A 20-year-old Canadian man who reportedly left a woman in an Edmonton hotel room while he went to get beer had a confession to make after he was arrested for failing to show up for a driver's licence hearing. The Global News spoke exclusively to Edmonton Police Service Const. Gabrielle Beaudry, who caught this man on camera as he passed the buggy and his foot was caught in the air. Gabrielle Beaudry says the failure to appear for a driver's licence hearing is one of the most serious traffic offences in Canada and it carries a maximum fine of $2,000 and a driver's licence suspension of six months. Beaudry says the bad driving caught on camera is an example of why people have been reporting vehicles as stolen to police. She says the suspect clearly failed to stop his car when he was asked to by police. The suspect was released on a promise to appear in court in the future. Beaudry says it's common for people to be charged in connection with driving offences that are not their own. Police receive many tips about vehicle theft and in some of those cases they end up arresting the suspect. She says it's important to remember that the police only have the suspect's word that they did not steal the vehicle. Const. Gamestory: After a fancy party, you wake up in a strange place and feel bad. You should be in a hospital. You don't remember anything at all, but your shiny new car is lying around, as if you just took it out from the garage. The car looks great, but it's not your car. However, you can hardly drive it since you don't know how to drive your car. You need to fix the car and drive it to a place nearby. Welcome to Kivi, Toilet and Shotgun! Key features: Random levels. Players have to drive their car through random environments. Each level contains many upgrades. Players start with a slow car, but this can be upgraded. I want to create an AR game. In this game you have to drive your car through a tube while avoiding the obstacles. Player can damage his car and he will lose money. The game will generate a lot of obstacles and players will need to be very careful. Features: Random enemies Invisible obstacles I'm a big fan of racing games and I would love to make a racing game similar to Crossfire, but with 3D graphics. So the game will probably be a 3D racing game with 2 or more laps of gameplay. The cars will be a bit weird too, but the player will be able to drive a DeLorean(s) and a DeLorean with a motorcycle inside. Your character will also be able to fly and your car will have superpowers. You will have to destroy enemies, collect coins and avoid problems. You can use your car as a helicopter, space shuttle, jet or a spaceship (with the DeLorean model). You can also create missions. I have some experience in programming and I can do the graphics and sound with the Unreal Engine. Features: Lap Counter Money and Time It is definetely important that the game run smooth and be fun. I'm working on a new project and I will probably try to release it around Christmas. Soon it will be a racing game like Burnout, but more on a 3d car than a polygons model. The graphics will be a bit retro as in the old Amiga era with raycasting, this allows me to re-invent textures a bit. The main focus of the game is a futuristic racing game, so gameplay might have a futuristic feel, but graphics will be more retro-

Operation Crimson Tide started out as a modest Quake III Arena mod called Crimson Tide: Operation Crimson Tide, but we have expanded to include all the features we wanted to implement in a shooter. We have switched over to the more mature Quake IV game engine, something that will give us greater freedom with many new features. Due to popularity we now have a total of over 200 levels. Many are based around the designs we have heard from users, others are standard maps. A major goal of Operation Crimson Tide has been to give the player a more realistic game experience. We have begun to implement more skill based players. This is done by providing new roles that make the experience more game intensive. In one the arenas of operation there are special roles that affect the playing field. Some of these are: Elemental — The team of a group of controlled elements. Factional — Controlled by one faction of the map. Unit — A faction's particular unit class. Transition — Special rules that also affect the environment. Aliens — Can be either a soldier or a vehicle. Operations, Raids, Airborne, and Things "And more..." In Operation Crimson Tide there are three different operations that the player can participate in. Operation Crimson Tide has a good mix of new and old players, giving new players a chance to succeed. One important note, we want you to play out of uniform, the rest of the game will work just as it does in your favorite World War II shooter. The Operation Crimson Tide game is available for download at www.quake4svn.com. The site also has more information and pictures of Operation Crimson Tide.
